Highlights

1. Defeat the Terrorists and Neutralize the Insurgents

Although more time is needed for comprehensive assessments of Fardh al-Qanun, the collective sense is that the security trends in Baghdad are better now than they were in January or February. Coalition and Iraqi Security Forces population security efforts, including the joint security stations and combat outposts in and around Baghdad are largely responsible for this and are having an effect.

2. Transition Iraq to Security Self-Reliance

The Minister of Interior, Anbar provincial government representatives, and Coalition forces celebrated the grand opening of the al-Anbar Iraqi Police Training Center June 4 in Habbaniyah. The joint ceremony highlighted the central government joining forces with local provincial officials to re-establish the capability to train the young men of Anbar to serve their government and people, protect them from extremists, and enforce the rule of law.

3. Help Iraqis to Forge a National Compact for Democratic Government

Bombers destroyed the two remaining minarets of the Askariya shrine in Samarra early June 13, in a repeat of the 2006 attack that shattered its famous golden dome. Sunni extremists of al-Qaida were quickly blamed. The attack prompted the 30-member bloc of Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr to suspend its membership in Iraq's parliament. To ward off a surge of violence, Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki quickly imposed an indefinite curfew on vehicle traffic and large gatherings in Baghdad.

4. Help Iraq Build Government Capacity and Provide Essential Services

The U.S.-funded construction of Nassir & Qahara water project in Kirkuk province has been completed, providing clean potable water and improving the quality of lives of 1,500 area residents.

Highlights

5. Help Iraq Strengthen Its Economy

The Anbar Provincial Council approved the allocation of nearly all of its $107 million FY 2007 capital expenditure budget at a meeting held in Ramadi June 4. Twenty-eight members of the Council were present to approve the documents, which allocated funds for electrical distribution, irrigation and water purification, among other projects. The budget was signed by Governor Ma'amun Sami Rashid. The Council set aside 10% of the budget as a reserve, which means that the actual appropriations amounted to $96.7 million.

6. Help Iraq Strengthen the Rule of Law

The Central Criminal Court of Iraq convicted 51 individuals May 13-19 for violations of the Iraqi Terrorist Law, Penal Code and Coalition Provisional Authority orders enforced by the Iraqi judiciary.

7. International Support for Iraq

UN chief Ban Ki-moon is considering an expanded UN role and presence in Iraq, adding that a clear direction from the Security Council and the government of Iraq would be essential and better coordination with the UN's major international partners would also be welcomed. Ban expressed hope that the 15-member Security Council and UN member states would continue to provide "strong political and logistical support" for the UN presence in Iraq.

8. Strengthen Public Understanding of Coalition Efforts and Public Isolation of the Insurgents

Britain's next prime minister, Gordon Brown, traveled to Iraq June 11 for a fact-finding visit, assuring Iraq's leaders of continued British support. This visit marks the first for Brown since being named as Tony Blair's successor.

[1.] Defeat the Terrorists and Neutralize the Insurgency

Operation Fardh al-Qanun (FAQ) - Predictions too Early to Tell:

- In a press briefing June 6, Coalition spokesman BG Kevin Bergner said four of the five additional "surge" brigades committed to Operation FAQ are in Iraq, and the fifth brigade is currently arriving. All five brigades plus their enablers will be operating within their sectors in the next few weeks. However, once they are in position, they may still require another 30 to 60 days to fully establish themselves with their Iraqi counterparts and the people in those sectors.
- Although more time is needed for comprehensive assessments of FAQ, the collective sense is that the security trends in Baghdad are better now than they were in January or February. Coalition and Iraqi Security Forces population security efforts, including the joint security stations and combat outposts in and around Baghdad are largely responsible for this and are having an effect.
 - The focus of these security stations is to integrate the Iraqi army, the Iraqi police, Coalition Forces (CF), and to do that where they have the best opportunity to improve the population's security. Additionally, in various areas of Iraq, highlighted by recent events in Anbar, the Iraqi people have also begun to take a stand against al-Qaida.

VBIED Cell Member and al-Qaida Amir Killed in Operation:

- CF killed a terrorist leader and detained three other suspected terrorists June 5 during an operation in Baghdad to disrupt a vehicle-borne improvised explosive device (VBIED) cell bombing network. Muhammad Mahmud Abu Qassim Hussain al-Mashhadani, also known as Abu Abdullah, was a known al-Qaida amir in the Hay al-Jama'a area of Baghdad and part of the deadly VBIED cell.

[2.] Transition to Security Self-Reliance – Iraqi Security Forces

Al-Anbar Police Training Center Opens:

- The Minister of Interior, Anbar provincial government representatives, and Coalition forces celebrated the grand opening of the al-Anbar Iraqi Police Training Center June 4 in Habbaniyah. The joint ceremony highlighted the central government joining forces with local provincial officials to re-establish the capability to train the young men of Anbar to serve their government and people, protect them from extremists, and enforce the rule of law.
- The facility has the capacity to train 750 recruits through twelve courses during a 10-week training session.

[3.] Help Iraqis to Forge a National Compact for Democratic Government

Minarets of the Samarra Mosque Bombed:

- Bombers destroyed the two remaining minarets of the Askariya shrine in Samarra June 12, in a repeat of the 2006 attack that shattered its famous golden dome. Sunni extremists of al-Qaida were quickly blamed. The attack prompted the 30-member bloc of Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr to suspend its membership in Iraq's parliament. To ward off a surge of violence, Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki quickly imposed an indefinite curfew on vehicle traffic and large gatherings in Baghdad.

Lawmakers Vote for Mashhadani's Resignation:

- The Council of Representatives (CoR) voted June 11 in a closed session to remove Speaker Mahmud Mashhadani after a series of scandals involving the controversial lawmaker. In the latest scandal, he allegedly ordered his bodyguards to rough up a Shiite minister of Parliament, the assembly's deputy speaker said. Of the 168 Parliament ministers who attended the session June 11, 113 voted to replace Mashhadani. Parliament gave the National Concord Front, the main Sunni political bloc, a week to propose a new candidate for the post of speaker, until then Deputy Speaker Khalid al-Attiyah will chair the CoR.

Intersect Leaders Gather for Conference:

- Iraqi Sunni and Shiite Iraqi religious and political leaders gathered at the UN headquarters for a two-day conference that ends to discuss ways to ease the sectarian tensions sparking violence in Iraq.

[5.] Help Iraq Strengthen Its Economy - Banking Sector

Central Bank's US Dollar (USD) Currency Auction:

- The following table shows volume sold of and exchange rates for USD in the Iraqi currency auction since April. Since September, the Central Bank of Iraq (CBI) has slowly appreciated the dinar, as suggested by the IMF, in an effort to rein in galloping inflation. There are early signs that this effort may have begun to bear fruit, as year-to-date inflation is 2.8%, which projects a pace well below the IMF annual target of 30%. However, this decline in the rate of inflation may be temporary, as the CBI has slowed its appreciation of the currency and the rate of inflation (particularly for energy prices) typically picks up in the second half of the year.

Iraq's commercial debt was approximately $22 billion before the debt-swap arrangement. The bonds, which are not yet rated, will mature in 2028. The bonds' current yield of 9.6 percent remains one of the highest in the world for sovereign debt instruments.
